Dear Mr. Perez,

I have learned about an ongoing plan about a potential development near the dropzone (Skydive Perris). I currently reside in NJ. Although Perris is far and California is expensive, I do fly there for various camps, trainings and practices. We don't have anything like that dropzone in my area or even on the East Coast.

In May, I flew there with my dog twice in one week.... That dropzone is a special place and probably one of a few or even just the only one in the US that offers a great variety of sport trainings, a friendly community, and a healthy and safe environment to practice this beautiful sport - skydiving. This place unites thousands of people from all over the world.

The People from all over the world and the US go to Perris dropzone on monthly/weekly basis, especially during the events and camps.

I reasonably believe we shall keep the dropzone/airport as is for the benefits of hundreds and thousands of young and old men and women who love the sport and enjoy their life because and for skydiving. Lots of children were basically raised at the dropzone watching their practicing sport parents.

Please prevent the development of any project that is planned to be near the dropzone. Any possible changes will harm those who jump and fly there. California is huge. I hope the development can be done somewhere else and we, the skydivers, may keep enjoying the sport instead of watching Netflix and drinking beer on the weekends and after work at a local bar or in our bedrooms.

Thanks very much for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Viktoriya Mikhalyuk
